AVK Open Day

The month of July saw AVK's first open day event, which due to the success looks set to be an annual event in the future. The 2008 global award winning generator dealer held the event across 3 days with a view to educate and entertain some of the industries movers and shakers!

Having had the previous weeks weather scattered with showers and grey skies it was a pleasure for all to enjoy an outdoor BBQ with refreshments in the sunshine.

Each day consisted of 3 seminars and a live test bay demonstration. One of the three carefully tailored seminars was presented by Chris Pritchard (Managing Director) who spoke about generators. He focused on design considerations and installation guidance with regard to diesel generator power systems, fuel installation exhaust and acoustic noise reduction, paralleling and mains synchronization.

The UPS seminar delivered by Mike Evans (Sales Director of AVK) involved information on harmonic distortion, active filters, 12 pulse rectification, matching a UPS load to alternator output and overload capability and battery design criteria.

The feedback from those that attended was positive, with most people stating the event to have been informative and worthwhile. The demonstration of the UPS and Generator set with the visual comparison of the harmonics between two types of UPS was of particular interest to guests.

AVK will be announcing their next Open Day in the coming year, so keep your eyes and ears peeled and make sure your one of the first to secure your place!
